STAT

[REDACTED] Mr. James Kendall, Staff Director of the Senate Preparedness Investigating Subcommittee, called to "alert" us to the fact that the Chairman (Senator Stennis) was releasing a statement to the press indicating that his Subcommittee was preparing to schedule hearings on an investigation of the situation in Cuba. He indicated that emphasis would be on such aspects as the current military strength in Cuba and did not intend to go into the Bay of Pigs matter. He said Senator Stennis would probably be calling Mr. McCone to appear as a witness. I alerted Mr. Elder to this call and then advised Kendall that for his information Mr. McCone and General Carter were expected to be out of town until Wednesday or Thursday of next week.
